SPOKEN : Psalm 103:1. Bless the LORD, O my soul: and all that is within me, bless His holy name.
 Psalm 145:21. My mouth shall speak the praise of the LORD: and let all flesh bless His holy name for ever and ever.

Song Story.

A dear prayer partner and many-years-long friend, Pastor K, had a piano tuning appointment in a town less than half an hour from mine. We decided to meet for lunch in that town after he finished the tuning.

I went early to the church where he was working, in case he finished early. I love “alone time” with God. I just sat in the open cargo door of my van with my guitar and journal, praying and asking God for “some song.”

This song “happened” -- God’s guidance -- and was complete in 15 minutes, music as well as the words. I started practicing music and lyrics, making a few wording changes because a few of my original words had too many syllables to be clear when I sang. (Clarity of God’s Words is always my highest priority, far above music skill itself).

As I played, a car drove into the parking spot beside mine, with one empty space between. An elderly gentleman just continued sitting behind the steering wheel, perhaps waiting for someone at church himself, I thought. I continued practicing, having the song “complete” by then. Then I played the 3 verses again.

When I finished and set aside my guitar to write a couple more notes, the gentleman jokingly asked, “Where’s your gig?” I smiled and said “Well, I used to play at the church down the street, but I don’t have any gigs now!” He paused a moment, reached down and put a hand out with his business card -- I thought. I reached for it, realized it was two $5 bills, and said --- “OH -- no thanks, that’s OK!” He dropped the bills out his window and said “That’s for you” and drove off. I picked them up, sat back on the van edge, and was laughing and laughing-praying thanks to God when my friend came out a few minutes later.

For I was yet once again heart-broken to have left a band where I loved serving LORD God, where I would continue to worship but knew God was leading me to stop playing for His reasons. And this was like God’s COMFORT to me...and our mutual joking!
 (P.S., I gave the $10 to someone else who really needed not just the $ but also the Word that God cares for her and comforts her in her sorrow at her husband’s death.”
